DELFINGEN continues its growth strategy in Asia and opens a new plant in India

DELFINGEN, global automotive supplier and leading manufacturer of on-board networks protection solutions and fluid transfer tubing, announces the recent opening of a new manufacturing facility in Chennai (formerly known as Madras), India.

Established in Pune since 2013, DELFINGEN continues to expand on the Indian market with the opening of its second site in Chennai.

This new plant, located in the automotive industrial area of south India, in the state of Tamil Nadu, is close to some major carmakers such as Renault-Nissan, Hyundai, Ford, Daimler, BMW.

This site, with over 2,000 square meters, is specialized in the manufacturing of wiring harness protection solutions and profiles for seat trim fastening dedicated to the automotive market.

DELFINGEN, a committed local partner close to its customers, strengthens its local production capacity for ever more flexibility and reactivity on an Indian market with strong growth potential.

Present during the opening of this new plant, Damien Personeni, Executive Vice President of the Group, comments:

"The Indian's government "Make in India" policy and its vision to be the third largest automotive market by the end of 2020, comforts us in pursuing our investments in this strategic region for DELFINGEN. Our new location in Chennai, nicknamed the Detroit of South Asia, strengthens our industrial footprint and closeness to better serve our tier-1 customers, both Indian and international."
